

Societal Dimensions of Responsible Innovation for Nanotechnology

PRESENTER:

Barbara Herr Harthorn: Director, CNS-UCSB and Professor, UCSB; Group co-leader, UC CEIN.

Presenter Email: harthorn@cns.ucsb.edu

ADDITIONAL CONTACTS:

Robert Ehrmann, Managing Director, NACK Network

Email: rehrmann@engr.psu.edu

WEBINAR OBJECTIVES:

This webinar will discuss:

- What is responsible development of nanotechnology (and why should you care?)
- Will the public accept these new technologies?
- How can public participation lead to better outcomes?
- What about the experts?
- Governance challenges

RESOURCES:

<http://www.nano.gov/you/ethical-legal-issues>

<http://www.cns.ucsb.edu/>

<http://cns.asu.edu/>

<http://www.ceint.duke.edu/>

<http://www.cein.ucla.edu/>

<http://californiananoeconomy.org/value-chain-view>

Shared Resources from Colleagues:

Jane Macoubrie, Project on Emerging Technologies, Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars, Informed Public Perceptions of Nanotechnology and Trust in Government, – PDF

Jim Murday, U. of Southern California, Implications: Preparation of People and Physical Infrastructure for emerging Convergent Technologies – Flash Video

You will need to complete the free registration to gain access to these materials*

